FOREWORD

HON. ABLA DZIFA GOMASHIE
MINISTER FOR TOURISM, CULTURE AND CREATIVE ARTS

On behalf of the Government and the Ministry of Tourism, Culture and Creative Arts, I extend my warmest greetings to all participants, visitors, and stakeholders of the 2025 Kwahu Easter Paragliding Festival.

Over the years, this festival has grown to become one of Ghana's flagship tourism events, attracting thousands of adventure enthusiasts, families, and tourists from all walks of life. Held annually during the Easter period in the scenic Kwahu hills of the Eastern Region, the Kwahu Paragliding Festival showcases not only the thrill of flight but also the beauty, warmth, and hospitality that Ghana is renowned for.

As Minister of Tourism, Arts and Culture, I am deeply proud of how this event continues to highlight the rich cultural heritage, breathtaking landscapes, and boundless creative energy of our people. It is a celebration of unity, adventure, and cultural pride and a powerful reminder of Ghana's unique position as a leading destination for eco-tourism and cultural experiences in Africa.

I commend the Organizers, our international pilots, local stakeholders, sponsors and the people of Kwahu for their unwavering support and commitment to making this festival a memorable and safe experience each year.

If you are from Kwahu or any part of the Eastern Region, take a picture of any heritage or cultural experience of your beautiful region this Easter and share on all your social media networks. If you are visiting us in Ghana take pictures of your favourite experiences and share it on all your social media handles. You are welcome, do come again.

Let us continue to use this platform to foster peace, promote tourism, and showcase the best of Ghana to the world. I encourage everyone to enjoy the festivities responsibly, embrace new experiences, and above all, celebrate Ghana.

Statement

MAAME EFUA HOUADJETO (MRS.)

CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER, GTA

Kwahu has emerged as a hotspot for events and activities during Easter, with the annual Paragliding Festival being a major highlight. This event, along with other social, cultural, and religious activities, makes Kwahu a must-visit destination during the Easter season.

Easter in Kwahu is a real treat for tourists in Ghana, and it is easy to see why the people of Kwahu are known for their warm hospitality, making visitors feel right at home. It is no wonder that the Easter celebration continues to grow in popularity, attracting more and more people to experience the rich cultural heritage and warmth of the community.

The Ghana Tourism Authority is committed to make Ghana the leading tourist destination in West Africa, and the Kwahu Easter Paragliding Festival plays a big role in achieving that goal.

The festival attracts thousands of tourists, providing a memorable experience and boosting domestic tourism. This, in turn, creates jobs and generates revenue for the local community, particularly the youth. We are proud to say that the festival has become a significant contributor to the local economy.

To make it easier for visitors to plan their trip, we have put together the Kwahu Easter Travel Guide. This guide has all the essential information from event organizers, hoteliers, sponsors, and other stakeholders, making it a valuable resource for anyone planning to attend the festival.

This year, we have added some exciting new activities to the lineup, including, a Skate Soccer Game, Competitions in Draught, Ludo, Oware, and Cards, with certificates and prizes for the top three winners, a fun dance competition, a proverb challenge, Children's games, such as paid electronic games, outdoor games, and bouncy castles and tours to attraction sites in Kwahu.

2024 Kwahu Easter Paragliding Festival exceeded expectations, with one hundred and thirty-eight (138) tandem flights and twenty-four (24)solo flights, attracting a record-breaking of seven thousand, four hundred and sixty-three (7,463) attendees to the Odweanoma Mountain Paragliding Site. This represents a remarkable 49% increase in attendance compared to the previous year. We are optimistic that this year's event will surpass last year's record.

In the coming months and years, we plan to implement initiatives under the Black Star Experience to drive tourism growth, increase visitor numbers, and enhance the overall tourist experience. The Black Star Experience is a flagship initiative designed by the Government of Ghana, with the primary objective of positioning Ghana as a premier destination for the world and therefore a gateway to Ghana's tourism potential. Black Star Experience highlights the Ghanaian music, foods, cultural and historical heritage among other things, and that every month events will be organised alongside to promote tourism.

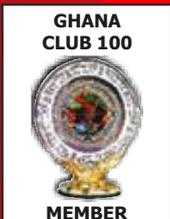

We will be working with stakeholders, developing new partnerships, and investing in infrastructure to support the growth of the tourism industry.

We thank the Kwahu Traditional Authority, Members of Parliament from Kwahu, Coordinating Director, organizers, sponsors, participants, and all stakeholders who have worked tirelessly to make this event a success. I would also like to welcome our pilots who have flown from far and near to volunteer their time and make the Paragliding event a success. We wish you all a successful festival.

GENERAL INFORMATION ON PARAGLIDING

Paragliding is an aviation sport that is enjoyed by hundreds of people around the world. It is most popular in Europe where there is an estimated 400,000 pilots. In the United States, numbers are considerably less but the sport is increasing in popularity.

In flight, the pilot remains in a sitting position inside a harness hanging below the canopy. Most modern harnesses include a reserve parachute which may be deployed in case of emergency. The paraglider is launched from a hillside or towed with a winch. It is kept aloft by a ram-air aerofoil canopy. It is steered by using vertical riser lines attached to the chute.

In calm air, the average speed over ground of a standard paraglider is approximately 30/40km/h. The performance of a paraglider is measured by its glide ratio, defined as the vertical over horizontal distance it covers.

A paragliding flight may be performed by a single pilot or an experienced pilot [instructor] together with a passenger (with no prior flying experience) attached to the same canopy. Such passenger flights require special equipment (tandem paraglider). A paraglider flight can last between a few minutes and a few hours, depending on weather conditions and the skill of the pilot. A paraglider flown by an experienced pilot may cover distances of tens and even hundreds of kilometers without the use of a motor at any stage of the flight.

The origin of paragliding has roots in the sport of parachuting. In the early 1960s, American parachutist Pierre Lemoigne was successful in cutting slots in the round parachute through the canopy. This had a dramatic effect on the lift to drag ratio and allowed for the pilot to steer the chute in a predictable manner.

Paragliding can be enjoyed by adults of all ages, both men and women, as it does not require any particular strength or exceptional physical fitness. A basic training enabling a person with no previous experience to fly a paraglider independently and safely, take approximately 15 days during which the theoretical knowledge can be acquired. The training should be carried out under the supervision of experienced instructors with the use of suitable and reliable equipment.

In Ghana, Paragliding was initiated by the Ministry of Tourism in April 2005 during the annual Easter Festival in Kwahu Atibie. It was organized to coincide with the Easter festivities that year on the Odweanoma Mountains, with the exceptions of 2009, 2021 the Paragliding Festival has been organized each year. As an aviation sport, the event is patronized by both local and international tourists during the Easter season. In addition, Paragliding has also been adopted as part of the tourism calendar of events in Ghana.

SIGHTSEEING

Bruku Rock

Bruku is located in Kwahu -Tafo in the Kwahu East District, Bruku as popularly called is best viewed from the Adawso stretch. The “god” bruku is the sacred guard watching over the entire Kwahu enclave. Magnificent as it is, it was once believed to be higher and visible by sailors on the ocean 150 km away.

Afram River

Is a special river in Kwahu as it serves as the connecting gateway between Kwahu and the Afram Plains. The Afram river was a small river that became a vast stream of river after the construction of the Akosombo dam. The beauty of the river is superb especially during the raining season.

Oworobong Waterfalls

Oworobong is a small town after Ankoma township also in the Kwahu east District. The waterfall is a wonderful two-level waterfall, misty in full flow and half hidden below tangled and bird-filled trees, which is worth a visit.

Abetifi Stone Age

The Abetifi Stone Age Park is both man made and heritage site with a very fascinating history. Abetifi stone age park is a multi-purpose tourist site and museum which depicts the indigenous stone age era.

Echo Ravine/Padlock Rock

In the forest near Twenedurase just after Obo is a natural wall of rock which responds to your voice with a marvelous echo. You can actually stand on a ledge and call out your name and will never forget the sound of that calling coming back at you. Inside the forest is a formation in the cliff which the locals call Padlock Rock.

Kwahu Aduamaoh Fort

Aduamaoh township in the Kwahu East District is well known for the production of tiger nuts in Ghana. It also houses the oldest palace (fort) in Kwahu which is over 300 years old. The palace is the seat of the Kwahu Benkumhene which literally means the chief of the left wing of the Kwahu Traditional set up.
